

Content Development - ELECTIVE

Rings True: Bringing Authenticity to Your Stage Presence

Whether you are in the early stages of your speaking career, or in development of a new topic, there is likely a moment where you ask "Who am I . . . to be sharing this message?"

"Why would the audience listen to me?"

Ask a dozen speakers for their opinion and you'll receive twelve answers and only one thing for sure. . . they don't know! Only YOU know what is inside of you wanting to be shared with the world.

And thus the internal journey of discovery begins. What rings true for you?

For many, public speaking is a sacred calling; a privilege to educate, to persuade, to influence. How you show up matters. Getting comfortable in your skin as a presenter gives the audience permission to relax and receive your message in a more meaningful way.

Learn how to bring authenticity to your stage presence and achieve a depth that cannot be faked by you or imitated by others. It comes from combing through and curating life experiences that are uniquely yours. Discover techniques to build resiliency, enabling you to stand boldly in your authenticity rather than folding into pressures of other's well-intended advice.

Objectives

- Vanity vs Value
- Calibrating Message and Body Language
- Money's role in authenticity

Format: Virtual Peer Learning; Online Prep work and (2) Virtual Workshops

Length: 5 Hours

Instructor: Victoria Peterson, SSD

Work Phone: 360-770-3077

Email Address: hello@victoriapeterson.life

Website: www.VictoriaPeterson.life